Sponsorship agreement between ProSea, marine education and Q-Shipping BV

Whereas ProSea contribute to structural protection of the marine environment by providing information, training and education relevant to seafarers, ship owners and other "maritime professionals" and Q-Shipping will support this initiative.

ProSea is an independent, non-profit, marine education organization based on the concept that ecological and commercial sustainability are attainable and should be a part of marine professionals current and continuing education. ProSea wishes to reduce the impact of the human factor, marine professionals, by educating the individuals who work with or at sea about the impact of their decisions and actions on the ecological sustainability of the oceans.

ProSea organises (inter)national courses and training workshops about sustainable development and marine environmental awareness for maritime academies, shipping companies and the fishing sector.

In all activities ProSea aims to increase professionals marine awareness and to promote a sustainable approach to activities at sea. ProSea defines sustainability as a balance between the three P's – People, Planet, Profit. All courses are organized in cooperation with the maritime sector, scientific institutes and educational organizations, and are a mix of information (presentations, demonstrations, movies), experience (outdoor trips and research activities) and exchanging opinions and ideas (workshops, discussions).
